

PROSECUTOR SILENT ON "BLUE" SUNDAY

REFUSES TO COMMENT ON DEMAND FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT HERE

Johnson Marks Time To Await Action Of Prosecutor

Is Xenia going to begin the observance of so-called "blue laws" Sunday? One guess is as good as another.

F. L. Johnson, attorney who demanded for a number of unnamed clients that Sunday observance laws be enforced, said Saturday his further action would await the first move of the prosecutor.

Prosecutor J. C. Marshall, who received a letter demanding the enforcement from Attorney Johnson in the name of clients who had retained him, remained non-committal Saturday. The prosecutor said "I have nothing to say" when questioned about his proposed action regarding the enforcement demand.

He repeated this statement to these questions:

"Will you enforce 'blue laws' Sunday?"

"What action do you propose to take in regard to Johnson's letter? Or do you intend to take any action?"

"Will you make a statement to the public through the paper today?"

"Do you know who Johnson's clients are?"

At the latter question, the prosecutor laughed, and said he wished he knew.

Attorney Johnson left Xenia Saturday morning, after giving out a statement saying that he and his clients would stand back and await the first move of the prosecutor on the "blue law" controversy. He intimated however that action may be expected next week if the laws are not enforced Sunday.

Action of Prosecutor Marshall in refusing to comment may indicate that he is adopting the same policy of "watchful waiting."

In the meantime citizens are interested in whether to buy their tobacco and gasoline Saturday, and whether they are going to be able to get a newspaper Sunday.

Diver Belden, secretary, Greene County Automobile Club, said his office was besieged with telephone calls from interested citizens who wanted to know if enforcement will be effective.

He interviewed Prosecutor Marshall, who continued to maintain silence. Success or failure of the prosecutor's "no-card playing" edict is expected to hinge on the "blue law" enforcement issue.

BURTON WARNS ARMS CONFERENCE THAT U. S. MAY SEPARATE

Says Nation Will Not Co-operate With Central Office Created By League

Geneva, May 16.—Congressman Burton, head of the American delegation to the arms conference, warned the conference today that if its central office for publication of statistics on arms commerce is not separated from control by the league of nations, it will be impossible to depend upon American co-operation.

"It is very difficult," Burton told the conference, "for the United States to co-operate with a central office which has been created by the league and which will be comprised in the leagues general organization."

"The United States," Burton continued, "would view with regret, if the conference draws up an agreement in such a form as would prevent the United States accepting it without reservations."

"I believe it is possible to agree upon a text which all can sign. For this purpose I move that a committee be appointed before which the Americans will explain their view point."

Adopting Burton's proposal, the conference appointed a committee of eight, comprising the United States, Norway, France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Germany and Spain.

The Spanish delegate, Palacios, opposing a separation of the arms body from the league said:

"The United States cannot deny that the league of nations exists."

"I am unable to understand why the United States cannot have confidence in a league council elected by fifty five nations."

"I propose as a compromise that the United States have a representative vote with the league council for the purpose of organizing a central office."

ARGUMENTS START

Cincinnati, O., May 16.—Arguments began this morning in the district court in the case in which the federal government is seeking to recover $2,500,000 from the Dayton Airplane Company for alleged over payment on 3,000 planes furnished the army and navy during the war.

It is expected that the case will be concluded late today.

ACCOMPLICE OF POISON WOMAN IS ARRESTED

RUM ROW CHALLENGE TO DRY ENFORCEMENT HAS BEEN BROKEN UP

Only Few Defiant Ships Remain of Wet Fleet Of East Coast

Aboard U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Pequot, Rum Row, Off New York, May 16.—Rum row, for months the standing challenge to the ability of the United States to enforce her liquor laws is gone. A few scattered liquor ships, most of them rotting, ragged schooners, are scattered from Manauk Point to Nantucket, all that's left of the spic and span fleet of steamers, yachts, and sailing vessels which in the last year supplied this country with more than 6,000,000 cases of intoxicants.

Racing like greyhounds from Boston to New York, are long, lean destroyers, coast guard cutters and patrol boats driving the "rummies" out to sea, crowding them off to the north and south, away from the center of the nation's liquor market, New York.

From ten to twelve rum runners are still holding against the government's naval attack between New London, Conn., and Atlantic City, according to wireless reports to Commander W. J. Wheeler on the flagship Mojave. In spite of the government's concentration of a fleet of destroyers, cutters and a host of small craft, the few survivors on rum row are defiant.

Within a month or two, liquor will be pouring into the country at the old rate of about five hundred thousand cases a month, the rum men swear.

Crews of several "rummies" were interviewed. They were ships of French, British and German registry but they were manned by Americans—most of them from New York.

The rum men "ducked" when cameras were levelled at close range. Coast guard officials declared that many of them are wanted for serious crimes in the United States.

Every rum runner left on the row is guarded by a coast guard vessel. Powerful searchlights play over the sea at night. All the "rummies" are spotted—with their picket escort never over a mile away they are as harmless as the yellow headed pins which mark their place on the flag-ship war map.

Destroyers, cutters and smaller boats are watching the hundreds of inlets along the coast. A number of vessels were permitted to go unsearched. To keep liquor out of the United States it now appears obvious that the facilities of the coast guard must be increased vastly on all short lines.

HAWKINS TO APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Cincinnati, O., May 16.—Morton S. Hawkins, president of the Hawkins Mortgage Company, who was indicted at Indianapolis for alleged misuse of the mails, will carry to the United States Supreme Court his battle to resist being returned to the hoosier capital.

Late Friday, the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati granted a stay until May 25 of the mandate ordering Hawkins' removal to Indianapolis.

Hawkins' plea for a writ of habeas corpus had previously been denied by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper, whose opinion was affirmed by the appellate court.

The mandate was to have gone down to the district court next Monday.

Kentucky Derby Draws 75,000 - May Rain

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—As Mecca is the objective of the devout Mohammedan's annual journey, so Louisville today became the focal point of the great American pilgrimage to the shrine of the thoroughbred shank, its disciples prostrated on prayer rugs that bore a singular resemblance to a five dollar mutual ticket on a possible winner of the $50,000 Kentucky Derby.

Louisville today was in the midst of its annual frenzy with 75,000 visitors, gorging its highways and the music of approaching hoofbeats ringing in its civic ear.

There is only one Kentucky Derby and it will be held late this afternoon at Churchill Downs.

The average Mohammedan probably rides into Mecca in an ox cart. His American cousin, however, came by rail, motor and airplane, and after settling down on the city like an army of occupation, received the unwelcome information that the official weather forecast was for showers.

The sky was cloudy early in the day and it makes good its threat the entire aspect of the fifty first running of the turf's three year old

Women on Jury in Love Slaying Case

LISKA SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR SLAYING AND BURNING WOMAN

Man Overcome When Jury Brings In Verdict After Long Balloting

Cleveland, O., May 16.—Frank Liska must die in the electric chair August 24. A verdict of guilty of first degree murder without a mercy recommendation was returned last night after the jury had deliberated for 53 hours. One juror, a man, had held out against the death chair throughout the jury's many hours of balloting.

Liska, who has been in the United States for sixteen years, but speaks no English, was overcome when one of his lawyers, John J. Babka, interpreted the verdict. He sagged to his knees and Judge Carl V. Weygant gave him permission to sit during the formalities which marked the end of the trial.

Mrs. Liska's charred body was found in a blazing chicken-coop last winter. She had been strangled. Later police wrung a confession from her husband that he had aided her to die.

During the trial, defense attorneys attempted to prove that the confession was obtained by coercion, and should not be admitted in evidence. They were overruled.

EX-NATIONAL GUARD OFFICER INJURED

Colonel Jack Horner, 30, former assistant adjutant general of Ohio, was perhaps fatally injured when he was crushed beneath the wheels of a five ton concrete mixer late Friday afternoon.

Horner was pulling the heavy tractor mixer with another tractor when the steering wheel broke, throwing him beneath the wheels of the concrete machine. He was removed in an unconscious condition to a hospital.

Attending physicians hold but little hope for his recovery.

DAWSON THREATENED BY WORST FLOOD IN HISTORY

Dawson, Yukon, May 16.—Dawson today emerged from the worst flood in its history.

Several houses were carried away, heavy property damage was done by the flood waters but no loss of life was reported.

City police in a launch today were making an effort to reach the islands in the Yukon river, fearing for the safety of farmers living on the islands.

For a time the flood threatened to wipe out the city. But the river dropped four feet during the night. The business district escaped damaged.

The flood was caused by the cold spring weather, followed by a sudden thaw. All along the Yukon Valley, torrents of water poured from the tributaries.

Below Dawson today flood conditions still prevailed. Seven feet of water was reported at the town of Circle.

Several houses were carried away bodily on the outskirts of Dawson.

The government radio station was out of commission for 12 hours when the flood was at its height.

Prominent citizens today wired the authorities at Ottawa asking that an appropriation of $50,000 be sent to repair the damage.

The uncertainty, however, only seemed to confirm the abiding impression, that the derby was to be an extremely open race, in spite of Quatrain's popularity with the masses. It couldn't be worse and it is a matter of derby record that a horse, off badly seldom gets up in the money.

Captain Hal drew the position next to Chantey, yet has the advantage of being a rapid starter.

But the Cardinal, one place removed may find himself in the same pocket with Chantey. Backbone and Almadel drew excellent positions on the outside and so did Quatrain. The latter may be a reluctant post horse, but he faces the probability of running his race without interference.

MURDERER KILLED IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Columbus O., May 16.—The body of Fred Ward, 30, of Bellaire, who was put to death in the electric chair at Ohio State Penitentiary early today for the slaying the man in the moon Panella, 16, in Belmont County, was to be shipped today to Bellaire for burial.

Ward's two sisters, Mrs. Freda Jarrett, Warwood, W. Va., and Mrs. Howard Markus, Steubenville, who failed to obtain a last minute reprieve will accompany the body.

FRANCO-AMERICAN DEBT NEGOTIATIONS WILL BE CONTINUED

Interest Rates Not To Affect Situation Washington Says

Washington, May 16.—It was the opinion in official circles today that Franco-American debt negotiations would not be retarded by the announcement that France may not expect any special consideration from the American debt funding commission in the matter of interest rates.

This statement, though coming from the White House, was accepted generally as merely an interpretation of the foreign debt act, which placed certain limitations upon the commission in dealing with the debtor nations, leaving it to congress to determine if and when concessions should be granted.

In view of this official clarification of the attitude of the administration, however, it is expected that the debt commission will seek to conclude an agreement with France with interest rates no lower than those accorded Great Britain although congress may be asked in December to amend the debt act to provide easier terms for the payment of the $4,000,000,000 French debt.

Among administration leaders in Congress who believe that little difficulty would be experienced in according some slight concessions to France is Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania recently returned from a first hand survey of economic conditions in Europe.

Senator Reed said today he would favor giving France a substantial moratorium on all interest payments, to be followed by the payment of interest at a lower rate which could be increased from time to time. He pointed out that there was nothing in debt law which prohibited the commission from granting a moratorium, and said he did not anticipate trouble in congress in approving any concessions deemed advisable by the debt commission.

Pending definite information from Paris heralding the opening of funding negotiations, government officials here continued today to withhold all formal comment on the French debt situation. The instructions of the French cabinet to finance Minister Caillaux to proceed with a study of interallied debts, and to draft plans for liquidation was hailed privately as the first official move in the direction of a settlement.

DENY CHAMBERLAIN PLANS TO RESIGN

London, May 16.—The British foreign office denied today that Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain contemplated resigning.

Opposition newspapers, however, declared Chamberlain would leave the ministry because his views on the French political situation were not in accord with those of the cabinet.

The name of Lord Birkenhead was mentioned as the probable successor to Chamberlain.

Johnson was said to have killed two chickens by wringing their necks and had a .38 calibre revolver and a flashlight in his hand when shot.

Later authorities discovered Johnson's battered automobile on the nearby road with forty five dead chickens hidden in sacks.

Johnson, declared by authorities to be a convicted murderer with a penitentiary sentence behind him, will probably be arraigned in Justice of the Peace Court on a charge of burglary and larceny when his condition permits.

Williamson shot but the one time at a distance of only fifty feet.

SEEK CASHIER FOR $80,000 SHORTAGE

Cleveland, O., May 16.—While authorities were seeking Arthur C. Fagy, in connection with a $80,000 shortage in the accounts of the Windomere Savings and Loan Company, of which he was formerly cashier, his wife today expressed confidence in his innocence.

The shortage was discovered when Fagy left for a vacation early in April. Directors said it had been made up by the bonding company and by themselves.

SAY CONFESSION OF WIDOW IMPLICATED CLEVELANDER HELD

Conspiracy Charge To Be Brought Against Both Poisoners

Medina, O., May 16.—After a grilling lasting six hours, Walter Johns, of 3704 Cypress Avenue, Cleveland, was placed under arrest here last night on a charge of first degree murder. He had been linked up with the arsenic poisonings of Mrs. Martha Wise, recently given a life sentence in the Marysville reformatory for killing her aunt, Mrs. Fred Gienke. She confessed administering poison to 17 persons in Hardscrabble, near here, and three of her victims died, including her mother.

Johns' arrest followed further alleged confession of the widow who is said to have told Prosecutor Joseph Seymour that it was Johns who prompted her to kill her mother, when the latter objected to the contemplated marriage of Mrs. Wise and the Cleveland man because of different religious beliefs.

Seymour announced today that he expected to bring a charge of conspiracy against Johns and also against Mrs. Wise, though she has already been sentenced for slaying her parent. If this charge is proved, it may mean the electric chair for both.

During his examination last night, Johns is alleged to have admitted frequently visiting Mrs. Wise but denied proposing marriage. He was arrested at his Cleveland home during the supper hour on a warrant issued out in the office of Justice W. P. Ainsworth of Medina.

The arrest was made in the presence of his family. He has been married three times. One wife died in an asylum, it is said, and the others are also dead. He has four children, Mrs. Bessie Weirley Nardy, 22, Hyacinth 19, Hildona 16, and Walter 14.

He refused to surrender to officers until the warrant had been carefully read to him. He made no comment at the time and later denied the charge of conspiracy made during Seymour's six hour interrogation. The prosecutor claims he will demand that Johns be held without bond for grand jury action, on the charge of conspiracy and first degree murder.

ALLEGED THIEF SHOT SERIOUSLY; CAUGHT STEALING CHICKENS

Xenia Colored Man Victim When Collins Williamson Uses Shot Gun

Elmer Johnson, 30, colored, this city, is believed to be in a serious condition; the County Jail from injuries sustained when Collins Williamson, farmer, near Cedarville, is said to have caught him in the act of stealing chickens and poured a load of buck shot into the back of his head early Saturday morning.

Johnson was brought to Xenia by Sheriff Morris Sharp and later taken to the County Jail where it was found that he is suffering principally from loss of blood. Dr. P. D. Espey attended Johnson Saturday morning at the jail.

Williamson told authorities that shortly after midnight he heard suspicious sound coming from his chicken roost near the house and running out into the yard with a single barrel shot gun in his hand shot the escaping man as he was about to leave through the gate.

Johnson was said to have killed two chickens by wringing their necks and had a .38 calibre revolver and a flashlight in his hand when shot.

Later authorities discovered Johnson's battered automobile on the nearby road with forty five dead chickens hidden in sacks.

Johnson, declared by authorities to be a convicted murderer with a penitentiary sentence behind him, will probably be arraigned in Justice of the Peace Court on a charge of burglary and larceny when his condition permits.

MERCHANTS TO PLAY SPRINGFIELD TEAM

The Xenia Merchants will get back into action Sunday afternoon at Dickinson Park when the locals play the Springfield Ladlows a postponed game.

The Merchants were to have played the Ladlows last Sunday but a downpour of rain prevented.

Rain has interfered with all Merchants games to date although the locals succeeded in completing five innings of the opening game of the season which was won by Xenia by a 5 to 1 score.

Either Jones or Lewis will pitch the Sunday game which will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The Merchants have bolstered up their lineup in preparation for the Ladlow game and will present a much stronger lineup than that which represented the locals a year ago.

BERNARD MACADAM

As articles of food, tea and coffee are valueless, for only an infusion of the substances is made, and their claim to favor rests upon the stimulating effects they produce. The excessive use of either tea or coffee is followed by disastrous results.

Coffee contains a volatile, slightly bitter stimulating oil called caffeine, similar in its nature to tea, found in tea. Any one can drink tea or coffee until his system has accumulated enough caffeine or them to poison him. The symptoms of caffeine or their poisoning are fever, rapid pulse, wandering mind, and broken rest. In some instances sleep is impossible. Then too, the excessive use of these beverages will result in a state of continuous intoxication. When the drinking of tea and coffee becomes habitual the effect on health is far more deleterious than the drinker appreciates.

The tannin contained in tea has the effect of rendering the membranous lining of the stomach hard and firm. This tannin contains the same chemical constituents as oak bark, which is used for tanning leather. The cheaper the grade of tea, the greater the percentage of tannin. It is particularly when tea is allowed to brew indefinitely that this chemical is set free. This fact alone should prove that the drinking of tea is by no means conducive to health.

Because coffee stimulates the brain, makes the memory acute, dissipates fatigue, raises the spirits when depressed, animates the circulatory system, and altogether gives one a feeling of vigor, it by no means follows that it is not harmful. After stimulation depression must follow. That is natural law. And just so surely as coffee causes the heart to beat faster, the circulation to become more rapid and the digestive tract to become excited in its efforts to eliminate the poison from the system, just so surely will there be a reaction following the use of the liquid, and it will require a further and increasing supply to keep the system stimulated to the same extent. The claims that are made for coffee might with equal justice be made for whiskey and other alcoholic beverages. The difference is merely one of degree. No one, whether he indulges in moderation in the drinking of tea, coffee, and other stimulants or not, will deny that their excessive use is decidedly injurious.

1925 JUNIOR RECEPTION VIES WITH OTHER SUCCESSES

The gymnasium of Central High School represented a picture of "old Holland," as a setting of the annual junior-senior reception, the largest social occasion of the school year, Friday night.

The work of the members of the junior class, who put forth every effort to make the evening a success, was rewarded from every standpoint.

From the novel and well selected decorations, to the form of entertainment prepared for the honor guests, the affair was one of the most enjoyable of the number that has featured Central's good times in preceding years.

The decorations were a departure from the usual appointments, and converted the school gymnasium into a reproduction of a Holland garden. Under the strands of pastel-shaded lights, large windmills were placed in the corners of the large room.

A pond was arranged in one end of the room, banked with tulips of every hue, where miniature fishes, ducks and other water creatures cavorted.

The students began to arrive about 8 o'clock, and groups of young people gathered on the dance floor, the colorful decorations being set off with the delicate shades of the evening frocks of the girls. The guests were received by Superintendent C. A. Waltz, Principal Harper C. Pendry, Miss Roxie Channel, junior class advisor; Miss Helen Reutinger, junior class president, Miss Barbara Little, secretary and Miss Jane Hayward, treasurer.

Music was furnished by the Perine Lakeside Orchestra, of Dayton, and the orchestra nook was screened with windmills and lattice. Dancing began at 8 o'clock and was interrupted by supper.

Supper was served on the balcony, surrounding the dance floor, where quartet tables were arranged. The menu was prepared by the domestic science class, under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Wolf, and was served by girls of the freshman class.

The gaiety of the evening was increased by several novelty dances. The annual affair came to a close at midnight.

Mr. H. W. Owens, architect, spent Friday in Columbus on business.

A Good Flag Should Be The Prized Possession of Every Home

The American Legion has arranged to supply flags, staffs, and lawn or sidewalk sockets to the people of Xenia.

The business district of Xenia now has a uniform flag display on National holidays. The Legion urges the residential parts of Xenia to likewise display the colors, officially.

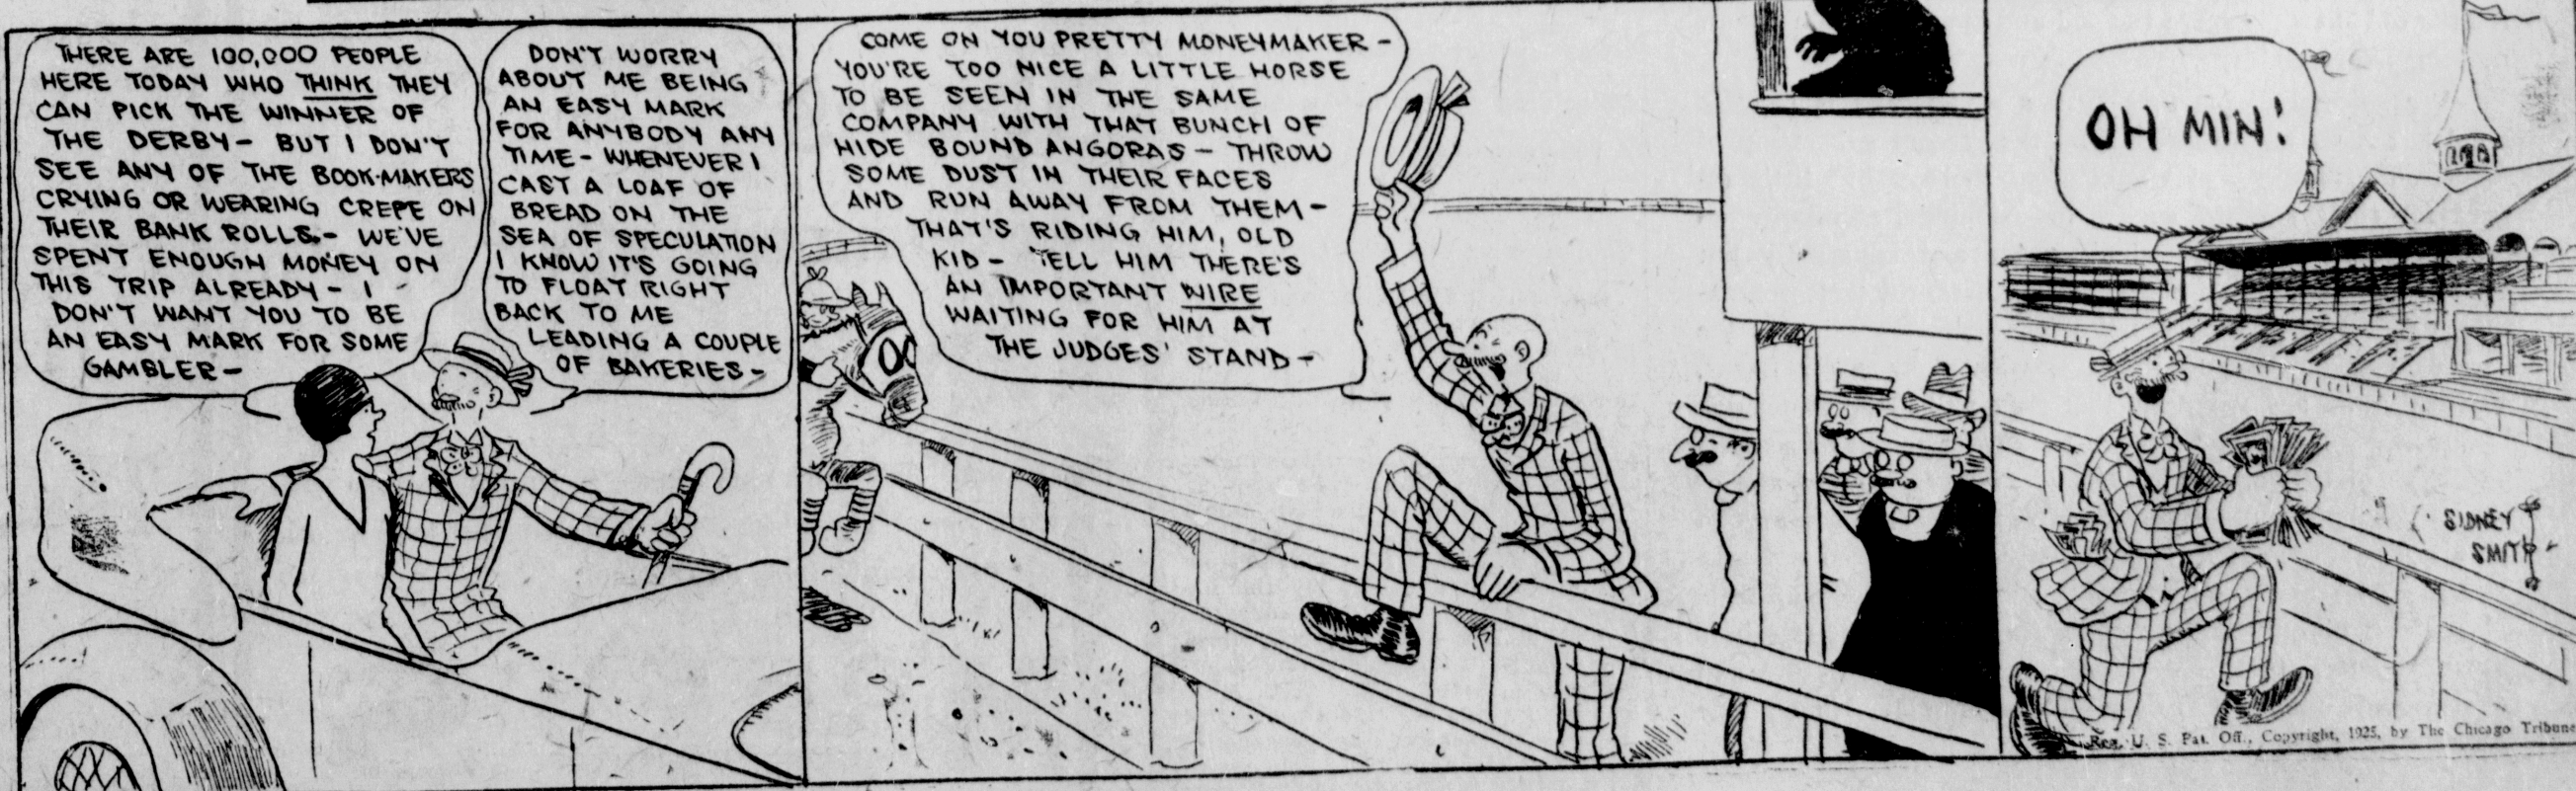

YOU should own a good Flag, one you may be proud of.
YOU should treasure it, keep it clean.
YOU should display it in a dignified manner.
YOU should not nail it to the side of the house like a coon skin on a barn door,
YOU should not hang it on a line like a towel on wash day.

YOU should raise it above your heads upon a proper staff, a symbol of the protecting care of your Country, one flag, one language, one country, right or wrong my country.

Flags obtained from the Legion are of authorized size, are weather proof, moth-proof and staffs are rust-proof. Order from any member of the American Legion, or phone orders to

THIS "BACKWARD" COUNTRY

AMERICAN failure to adopt the proposed federal child labor amendment has given the Geneva labor conference, which is part of the league of nations machinery, a topic for highly indignant rhetoric.

If the United States will not reform itself, the league has an idea that Europe ought to step in and impose reforms on this backward country. There was some talk about "crystallizing European sentiment" and "bringing moral pressure to bear" on the United States.

Our foreign critics presumably have been careful to sweep at their own doorstep before they undertook to lecture this country. We expect to hear that London slums, with their unspeakable child misery, have been cleaned up, that peonage and the exploitation of the young have been ruthlessly suppressed throughout the European continent, and that foreign countries are a veritable paradise for children. If they are not, foreign indignation would seem to be a bit premature.

Child labor conditions in some sections of the United States cannot be defended, but taken as a whole, this country presents a distinctly higher average than the general European level. Strangely enough, while America is being denounced as backward in labor legislation, thousands of Europeans are besieging our gates anxious to bring their children here with a view to improving their lot.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

AMERICA'S STEWARDSHIP

DEAN INGLE, of St. Paul's, London—England's famous "gloomy dean"—who is visiting in this country, is emphasizing a point to Americans that not a few of them have felt themselves. The fact that the Dean is constantly calling upon his hearers to stir themselves to save the world shows that he is not so gloomy as not to have hope that saving is possible. The greatest need today is international leadership, and Dean Ingle looks to the United States to supply it. He is not here, he says, to further the cause of the League of Nations, realizing that this country may have reasons for hesitating to share in the association. "But," he emphasizes, "it is your duty, if you cannot join, to give us something better." Then, as in a recent address in Philadelphia, he points to America's stewardship:

God has given you here a great natural security, as as He has other blessings. Surely His thought was that through them you would be able to aid humanity. There are conditions in Europe which make the danger of another war very grave. The great catastrophe of 1914 came upon us without warning, and we cannot say when another war may come upon us. It is for America to show us the way to security.

All of which we said ourselves when we entered the World war.

HAIRBRUSH AND WHIP CONDEMNED

SPANKING and other stern forms of punishment for children were condemned as barbarous by noted women from all countries who were assembled last week in Washington, D. C. at the International Council of Women. The denunciation of historic methods of disciplining recalcitrant youth was led by Mrs. Ogilvie-Gordon, of England, who is the mother of three and recently became a grandmother. A new day in child training was declared to have dawned as a result of increased parental education and delegates maintained that the familiar hairbrush-razorstrap-rattan methods of showing Johnny the error of his ways would end with the present generation.

"Training begins at the cradle," declared Mrs. Gordon. "At the age of one month a baby will lay the foundation for future parental heartaches unless its demands for attention are checked. From then on it progresses either into admirable obedience or an unfortunate disposition which the parents promptly try to whip into shape. Normal babies come into the world with brains which can be trained along proper lines by intelligent parents."

She recommended that the child be deprived of little pleasures as one method of molding it into a character of obedience and she declared that whoever was responsible for the old adage, "spare the rod and spoil the child" knew nothing about children.

We sincerely hope that such a millennium is near at hand but if we are to judge from the present generation of youths, the majority of whom seem to have but little regard for their parents' wishes or teachings, seemingly no understanding of the word obedience and apparently but little respect for their fathers and mothers, the next generation, under Mrs. Gordon's methods, will so far surpass the present day shiks and flappers, with their silver flasks, cigarettes and sex wiseness, that they will make them look like amateurs. Do you happen to know a dozen or so girls and boys of between fourteen and twenty years of age of whom you have often thought—"What they need is a good tanning?" We don't believe in cruelty to children but love and kindness and punishment by depriving them of little pleasures will only work with certain dispositions; others must be forced to mind. That is only human nature and every nature must be dealt with accordingly. No set rule for the raising of children will ever apply to all.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

I have found beauty in a lake of pearl,
A winter scene, with spruce trees edged with snow,
A ridge of mountains where the laurels grow,
A block of lilies where the waters swirl,
A sunset, and a sunrise, and a curl
Upon the brow of one with youth aglow,
But nothing lovelier upon this earth I know
Than is the glad smile of a little girl.

A little girl whose years are scarcely three,
Laughing and tripping lightly into day,
Untouched as yet by fears of what may be
Believing life all good and meant for play,
In such a face, and in such radiant eyes,
God's loveliest gift of earthly beauty lies.

DISAPPOINTED PEOPLE
I get so many letters from disappointed people. Some of them are extremely pathetic. I wish that I might give something to such people that would help make them happy.

But the fact is that it is a human characteristic for all of us to be disappointed in greater or less degree. With all the glory that came to Napoleon, he died a disappointed man—bitterly complaining of his fate.

The child seems to be as happy on the dark day as on the bright day. But there comes a time when disappointment quiets the laughter and loneliness shades the heart.

Disappointment is a common heritage, however. We dream dreams and then awake to find that realities have swept them from before our eyes. We set up ideals and strive to attain them and so often walk to our bed for the night with a heavy heart.

But this very disappointment is a vital affair in the business of life. We were not put here to live in clover and drink nectar from the hand of some goddess. We were put into the world to play the game, to take our chance "at bat" whether for a "strike out" or a "home run." And sometimes we are called upon to "sacrifice" that someone else may come in—for the good of all.

There are compensations. If this were not so every brick and stone in the citadel of our hope in life would crumble.

Without complaint, advertisement, or visible expression we should carry over our heart the "red badge of courage."

It was Shelley who once wrote:
"Our sincerest laughter
With some pain is fraught."

TAX RATE OF OSBORN VILLAGE INCREASED BY PETITION ACTION

A total of $3,247.85 will be added to the Osborn Village tax duplicate at the June collection following the passage of an ordinance by members of the village council levying a three mill tax on the entire Osborn tax duplicate in accordance with the authorization of special bill passed by the House at the last session of the legislature, County Auditor E. O. Wead said Saturday. The village is a rapidly growing municipality and because the town is in need of funds tax payers made the necessary petitions.

Osborn is believed to be but the third municipality in the state that has taken advantage of the new laws which were passed as emergency measures by the legislature for the year 1925 to relieve the financial condition in the Ohio cities.

County Auditor Wead will place the special tax on the duplicate for the 1924 tax year and certify to County Treasurer F. E. Jackson to collect the new tax levy with the semi-annual settlement of taxes in Osborn for 1924, payable June 20. The Board of Deputy Supervisors of Elections of the county has certified to the Osborn council that a petition was filed with them levying the special three mill tax to pay deficiencies in the several village funds February 1, 1925.

Osborn tax payers paid a tax rate of $22 at the last October collection but in the last half collection in June will pay a rate of $14 instead of $11 or three dollars more.

ASSOCIATION ASKS PUBLIC TO INSPECT NEW SHAWNEE PARK

"Visit the Park."

This invitation is being extended by the Xenia Recreation Association to the general public, with the completion of a large amount of work on the new city park.

The recreation association will meet at the park Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of allocating the various buildings, and laying tentative plans for the shelter house at the south end of the lagoon. It is planned to construct the foundation of the lagoon to afford canoe storage.

Another proposal is for a triangular space at the entrance of the park, to be converted into a memorial plot to the World War Veterans. Flowers will be planted in the plot and a suitable memorial placed.

The Quoit Club has installed its equipment at the park and pitching will begin early next week, it is thought.

Money pledges are still being received at the Citizens' National Bank, and anyone who has money to donate to the city park, will be received gladly at the bank.

The Greene County Commissioners have presented the park with a sixteen foot bridge, constructed over the lagoon.

PART OF JEWELRY FOUND IDENTIFIED; QUANE NOT LOCATED

A portion of the jewelry cache found several days ago in a room at the Frances Inn, South Detroit Street, has been identified by M. H. Schmidt, as stolen from his residence February 27 at King and Union Streets, Police Chief M. E. Graham announced Saturday.

Of the seven pieces of jewelry found the two watches, one gold and one silver, the silver watch chain and the solid gold watch chain were claimed by Mr. Schmidt. One watch stolen from his home the same night was never recovered.

Two gold lockets and a lavaliere remain unidentified and are being held at Police Headquarters for safe keeping.

The cache of jewelry was discovered last week at the Inn by a maid in the corner of the top shelf of the wardrobe in one of the rooms while cleaning.

Suspicion rests on J. M. Quane, a man who registered at the hotel February 27 from Springfield and occupied the same room in which the valuables were found.

Chief Graham communicated with Springfield police in an effort to locate the man but was rewarded with the reply that the name of Quane was not known and he could not be located.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL SELL FLAGS TO XENIA RESIDENCES

With the aim of having a flag displayed by every Xenia home on all national holidays and occasions of celebration, Joseph P. Poody Post, No. 95, American Legion, is staging a flag-selling campaign for Xenia.

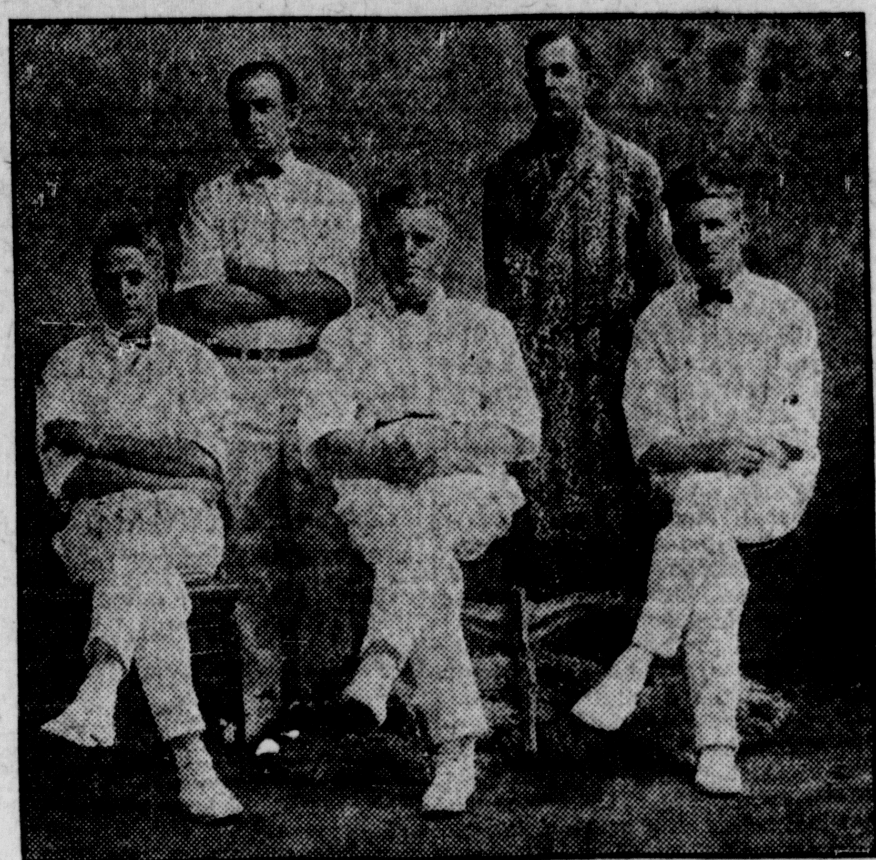

The importance of the display of the flag at residences the same as in the business districts, is stressed by Legion officials. Xenia business men recently purchased flags through the canvas homes the coming week. The Legion and put them on display in front of their places of business on each holiday.

The same plan is to be carried out for residence districts by the Legion and members of the organization will canvass homes the coming week. The flags are of standard size.

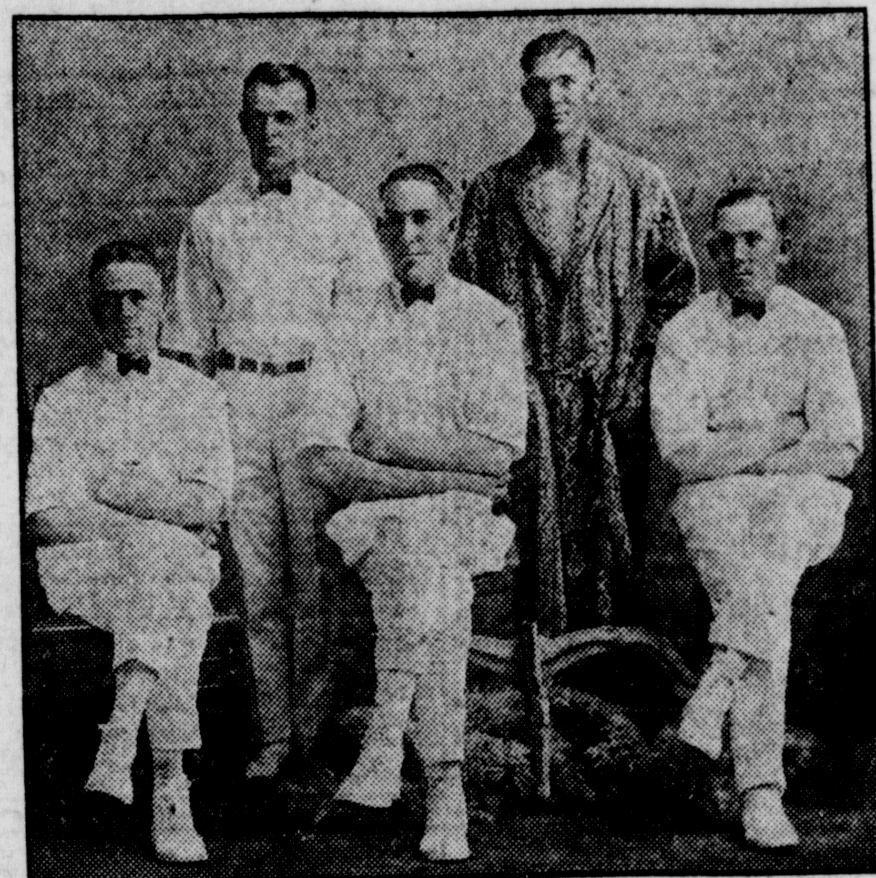

"Let us own a good flag, one that we may be proud of. Let us treasure it. Let us keep it clean and when we display it, do so in a respectful and dignified manner. Let us not nail it to the side of the house like a coon skin on a barn door, nor hang it on a line like a towel on wash day. Let us raise it above our heads, upon a proper staff, a symbol of the protecting care of our country, 'always over us,' is the plea of Legionnaires in selling the flags.

Flags may be purchased from any member of the Legion, and it is hoped that hundreds will be sold before Memorial Day.

GENERAL NELSON A. MILES IS SUDDENLY CALLED BY DEATH

Washington, May 16—While the whole army mourned, arrangements were being completed today for the funeral of General Nelson A. Miles, one of America's outstanding military heroes, who died suddenly yesterday while attending a circus.

Mrs. Cecilia Raber, the General's daughter, was to arrive this morning from New York, while his son, Major Sherman Miles, is enroute to the United States from Constantinople on the Leviathan.

Having served in nearly every rank which the army knows, from private soldier to commander of all the nation's forces—General Miles will be buried, probably in Arlington Cemetery, with full military honors.

The general was 86 years old when he died. His service covered more than half a century, beginning in the Civil War, when he commanded an army corps, while only 25 years of age, and extending through the Indian wars in the west and the war with Spain.

MODISH MITZI—Choose Your Type!

By JAY V. JAY

Are you a dark young woman and were you born to wear a neck line like this? No, this isn't a horseshoe. But still it may interest you to know that turtle neck jumpers are going to be worn by a great many people this summer. It is particularly hand some on those of Mitzi's type.

And if you are blonde or maybe brunette (its a mere detail) but if you are slim and rather boyish in build, this sort of collar and neckline should be of great interest to you. It's clever in its mannishness which of course, is used to emphasize the femininity of people like our friend Polly here.

Adelaide, the lynx-eyed, with straight-bobbed hair and a peculiar style all her own is very fond of the new collar mode that stands up and has one of the long ties that may be tied in a bow knot or a bow or left hanging so that the ends extend nearly to the knees. Maybe you resemble her.

Or if you are like Eleanor of gentle disposition, inclined to blue eyes and wavy hair you will undoubtedly like to wear a satin dress with a jabot front. The nice thing about not being born under any style star is, that you can wear all these necklines if you want to and be completely in harmony

TAKE YOUR WORK AS RECREATION IS RAY COX'S TIP

ter word meaning a "good insurance man" when requested to speak freely on Life, Fire and Casualty insurance remained pensively silent for an hour or so while the representative of the Weekly Business Review twiddled her thumbs. He then spoke as follows: "Man was never intended for Work! By proper co-operation among all of us it can be entirely done away with. There would be no work if folks would quit calling what they make their living at by some other name. If the farmer frantically would call his Saturday shopping tour here in town 'WORK' and his plowing and planting 'RECREATION'—if the Book-keeper would call his dance nights 'WORK' and his accounting 'PLAY', etc., etc., this world would be a blighted sight happier place to live in.

"Take insurance for instance. I don't find much work attached to it in the way I've spent in its study. Bowling I consider my real life's 'WORK.' Insurance however makes me my living yet to me it's 'recreation.'"

"If all the readers of the Weekly Business Review would cut out this fool word 'work' and forget it for a spell, Xenia would be a much more joyous community and would assay many more smiles."

"Another thing while I'm at it:—

"There's lots of people who have no need—none at all—for insurance. I can't name any of them right at this time but I KNOW there ARE such folks."

Mr. Cox at this point lapsed into silence and would say nothing more.

BUY PURE MILK AT HURLEY DAIRY AND HAVE GOOD HEALTH

Milk is one food every child should have, especially in warm weather when food is apt to lie heavy on the stomach. Heavy eating should be dispensed with during the warm summer months and milk takes the place of many foods and is satisfying and nutritious for both children and grown-ups.

Too much milk cannot be given the growing boy and girl and the important factor to consider is whether or not the milk is pure. Milk purchased at the Hurley Dairy is absolutely pure and the most sanitary methods are used at the dairy.

The importance of health for growing boys and girls cannot be estimated and pure food is a necessary item for parents to consider and milk should be made the main article on all menus. Gain good health by drinking pure milk, purchased at the Hurley Dairy.

MAKE YOUR TRIP A PLEASURE—SEE BALDNER MOTOR CO

How do you feel at the end of a long automobile drive? FEDERAL PRISONER NOW CONFINED HERE

Cell doors of the Greene County Jail closed behind the first federal prisoner Thursday afternoon that has ever been consigned to Greene County by the government.

Richard Whiteacre, Cincinnati, sentenced to spend thirty days in jail for forgery was brought to the County Jail Thursday afternoon by F. A. Argh, deputy under United States Marshal Stanley Brothwick, of Cincinnati.

Because of over-crowded conditions in jails in southern Ohio, arrangements have been made by the government to use the Greene County Jail indefinitely for confinement of prisoners.

No limit is placed on the number of prisoners that may be sent to Greene County.

The federal government will bear all expenses of keeping prisoners in the local jail.

This is the first time federal prisoners have been sent to Greene County to serve sentences. The move had been contemplated and discussed for a number of months.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER XLIV

Elaine's letter revealed only conventional sentences, and nothing to indicate that she knew of, or dreamed of (except as, perhaps, concerning herself), Michael's engagement. She gently rebuked him for his failure to write. She said that Daddy was elated because he had done eighteen holes in 95. She advised him to try a book she had just read and found delightful. It was called "South Wind" and the author was Norman Douglas.

"I must write to her tomorrow. I must tell her of my engagement." With this resolve, Michael undressed, yawning, and went to bed, falling asleep almost as quickly as he laid his head among the pillows.

He telephoned Lilah from the office in the forenoon. "I want you to have tea with me at my house—and your future home—this afternoon," he announced. "I want to see you." She replied, "Be ready at 4:30 o'clock and don't keep me waiting," he said, commandingly.

But he was kept waiting. "I'd like for Mamma to come along," Lilah smiled, as she admitted him. "I want her to see the house, too."

Michael frowned, but concealed his annoyance. "Yes, yes. Do ask her."

They got started twenty minutes later.

Sally admitted them gravely—haughtily it seemed to Michael.

you'd be able to do on less." Michael regarded her belligerently. He was glad that Sally was out of the room at the moment.

"It's a matter I have left to Sally. She has been in the house since I was a boy and was trained by my mother. My mother found her to be economical and trustworthy. I think that it will be wise for Lilah to allow Sally to continue to run things." He spoke crisply, as if he were delivering an ultimatum.

Lilah nodded approvingly: her mother shrugged. She made a mental note to take up the matter with her daughter when they were alone.

As the three of them proceeded through the house on their tour of inspection, Michael found himself becoming more and more angry, and longed to burst out at Mrs. Pharley with instructions to go home and mind her own business. She had arbitrary suggestions to make about anything and everything. The arrangement of the bedrooms didn't suit her. The halls were too dark. The lighting fixture, were too old-fashioned.

"Damn," Michael breathed to himself as Mrs. Pharley repeated again: "Well, I certainly don't see what you two are going to do with such a big house."

MONEY

AT WORK

Brief but important lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

To be productive, bank credit should go to agriculture, industry or trade for a short term and not be used for speculation.

After any legitimate loan is in the hands of the borrower, he may use that money unproductively. He might accumulate goods to hold for a higher price, instead of turning them over quickly. He might borrow to build a plant on the chance that he could make a quick turnover and repay the loan.

The first case is pure speculation; the second is properly the basis for a mortgage or long term debt, not credit. Neither could be called a productive use of bank credit.

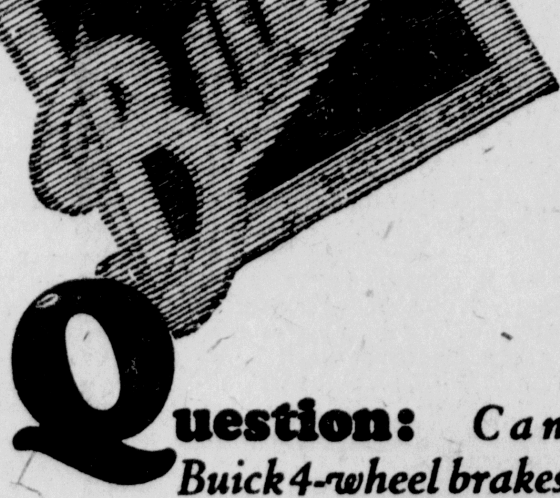

On the other hand, bank credit provided to finance the movement of goods through any one of the successive stages of production and distribution until it reaches the ultimate consumer is productive. There are three requisites for productive credit then.

1. It must be for a short term.
2. The loan must not be used for speculation.
3. It must go to agriculture, industry or trade.

PROSECUTOR SILENT ON "BLUE" SUNDAY

REFUSES TO COMMENT ON DEMAND FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT HERE

Johnson Marks Time To Await Action Of Prosecutor

Is Xenia going to begin the observance of so-called "blue laws" Sunday? One guess is as good as another.

F. L. Johnson, attorney who demanded for a number of unnamed clients that Sunday observance laws be enforced, said Saturday his further action would await the first move of the prosecutor.

Prosecutor J. C. Marshall, who received a letter demanding the enforcement from Attorney Johnson in the name of clients who had retained him, remained non-committal Saturday. The prosecutor said "I have nothing to say" when questioned about his proposed action regarding the enforcement demand.

He repeated this statement to these questions:

"Will you enforce 'blue laws' Sunday?"

"What action do you propose to take in regard to Johnson's letter? Or do you intend to take any action?"

"Will you make a statement to the public through the paper today?"

"Do you know who Johnson's clients are?"

At the latter question, the prosecutor laughed, and said he wished he knew.

Attorney Johnson left Xenia Saturday morning, after giving out a statement saying that he and his clients would stand back and await the first move of the prosecutor on the "blue law" controversy. He intimated however that action may be expected next week if the laws are not enforced Sunday.

Action of Prosecutor Marshall in refusing to comment may indicate that he is adopting the same policy of "watchful waiting."

In the meantime citizens are interested in whether to buy their tobacco and gasoline Saturday and whether they are going to be able to get a newspaper Sunday.

Dilver Belden, secretary, Greene County Automobile Club, said his office was besieged with telephone calls from interested citizens who wanted to know if enforcement will be effective.

He interviewed Prosecutor Marshall, who continued to maintain silence. Success or failure of the prosecutor's "no-card playing" edict is expected to hinge on the "blue law" enforcement issue.

BURTON WARNS ARMS CONFERENCE THAT U. S. MAY SEPARATE

Says Nation Will Not Co-operate
With Central Office Created
By League

Geneva, May 16.—Congressman Burton, head of the American delegation to the arms conference, warned the conferees today that if its central office for publication of statistics on arms commerce is not separated from control by the league of nations, it will be impossible to depend upon American co-operation.

"It is very difficult," Burton told the conference, "for the United States to co-operate with a central office which has been created by the league and which will be comprised in the leagues general organization."

"The United States," Burton continued, "would view with regret, if the conference draws up an agreement in such a form as would prevent the United States accepting it without reservations."

"I believe it is possible to agree upon a text which all can sign. For this purpose I move that a committee be appointed before which the Americans will explain their view point."

Adopting Burton's proposal, the conference appointed a committee of eight, comprising the United States, Norway, France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Germany and Spain.

The Spanish delegate, Palacios, opposing a separation of the arms body from the league said:

"The United States cannot deny that the league of nations exists."

"I am unable to understand why the United States cannot have confidence in a league council elected by fifty five nations."

"I propose as a compromise that the United States have a representative vote with the league council for the purpose of organizing a central office."

ARGUMENTS START

Cincinnati, O., May 16.—Arguments were begun this morning in the district court in the case in which the federal government is seeking to recover $2,500,000 from the Dayton Airplane Company for alleged overpayment on 3,900 planes furnished the army and navy during the war.

It is expected that the case will be concluded late today.

RUM ROW CHALLENGE TO DRY ENFORCEMENT HAS BEEN BROKEN UP

Only Few Defiant Ships
Remain of Wet Fleet
Of East Coast

Aboard U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Pequot, Rum Row, Off New York, May 16.—Rum row, for months the standing challenge to the ability of the United States to enforce her liquor laws is gone. A few scattered liquor ships, most of them rotting, ragged schooners, are scattered from Manauk Point to Nantucket, all that's left of the epic and span fleet of steamers, yachts, and sailing vessels which in the last year supplied this country with more than 6,000,000 cases of intoxicants.

Racing like greyhounds from Boston to New York, are long, lean destroyers, coast guard cutters and patrol boats driving the "rummies" out to sea, crowding them off to the north and south, away from the center of the nation's liquor market, New York.

From ten to twelve rum runners are still holding against the government's naval attack between New London, Conn., and Atlantic City, according to wireless reports to Commander W. J. Wheeler on the flagship Mojave. In spite of the government's concentration of a fleet of destroyers, cutters and a host of small craft, the few survivors on rum row are defiant.

Within a month or two, liquor will be pouring into the country at the old rate of about five hundred thousand cases a month, the rum men swear.

Crews of several "rummies" were interviewed. They were ships of French, British and German registry but they were manned by Americans—most of them from New York.

The rum men "ducked" when cameras were leveled at close range.

Coast guard officials declared that many of them are wanted for serious crimes in the United States.

Every rum runner left on the row is guarded by a coast guard vessel. Powerful searchlights play over the sea at night. All the "rummies" are spotted—with their picket escort never over a mile away they are as harmless as the yellow headed pins which mark their place on the flagship war map.

Destroyers, cutters and smaller boats are watching the hundreds of inlets along the coast. A number of vessels were permitted to go unsearched. To keep liquor out of the United States it now appears obvious that the facilities of the coast guard must be increased vastly on all short lines.

HAWKINS TO APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT

Cincinnati, O., May 16.—Morton S. Hawkins, president of the Hawkins Mortgage Company, who was indicted at Indianapolis for alleged misuse of the mails, will carry to the United States Supreme Court his battle to resist being returned to the hoosier capital.

Late Friday, the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati granted a stay until May 25 of the mandate ordering Hawkins' removal to Indianapolis.

Hawkins' plea for a writ of habeas corpus had previously been denied by U. S. District Judge Smith Hickman, whose opinion was affirmed by the appellate court.

The mandate was to have gone down to the district court next Monday.

Women on Jury in Love Slaying Case

LISKA SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR SLAYING AND BURNING WOMAN

Man Overcome When Jury
Brings In Verdict After Long Balloting

Cleveland, O., May 16.—Frank Liska must die in the electric chair August 24. A verdict of guilty of first degree murder without a mercy recommendation was returned last night after the jury had deliberated for 53 hours. One juror, a man, had held out against the death chair throughout the jury's many hours of balloting.

Liska, who has been in the United States for sixteen years, but speaks no English, was overcome when one of his lawyers, John J. Babka, interpreted the verdict. He sagged to his knees and Judge Carl V. Weygant gave him permission to sit during the formalities which marked the end of the trial.

Mrs. Liska's charred body was found in a blazing chicken-coop last winter. She had been strangled. Later police wrung a confession from her husband that he had aided her to die.

During the trial, defense attorneys attempted to prove that the confession was obtained by coercion, and should not be admitted in evidence. They were overruled.

EX-NATIONAL GUARD OFFICER INJURED

Colonel Jack Horner, 30, former assistant adjutant general of Ohio, was perhaps fatally injured when he was crushed beneath the wheels of a five ton concrete mixer late Friday afternoon.

Horner was pulling the heavy tractor mixer with another tractor when the steering wheel broke, throwing him beneath the wheels of the concrete machine. He was removed in an unconscious condition to a hospital.

Attending physicians hold but little hope for his recovery.

DAWSON THREATENED BY WORST FLOOD IN HISTORY

Dawson, Yukon, May 16.—Dawson today emerged from the worst flood in its history.

Several houses were carried away, heavy property damage was done by the flood waters but no loss of life was reported.

City police in a launch today were making an effort to reach the islands in the Yukon river, fearing for the safety of farmers living on the islands.

For a time the flood threatened to wipe out the city. But the river dropped four feet during the night. The business district escaped damaged.

The flood was caused by the cold spring weather, followed by a sudden thaw. All along the Yukon Valley, torrents of water poured from the tributaries.

Below Dawson today flood conditions still prevailed. Seven feet of water was reported at the town of Circle.

Several houses were carried away bodily on the outskirts of Dawson.

The government radio station was out of commission for 12 hours when the flood was at its height.

Prominent citizens today wired the authorities at Ottawa asking that an appropriation of $50,000 be sent to repair the damage.

MURDERER KILLED IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Columbus, O., May 16.—The body of Fred Ward, 30, of Bellaire, who was put to death in the electric chair at Ohio State Penitentiary early today for the slaying of the man in the moon Panella, 16, in Belmont County, was to be shipped today to Bellaire for burial.

Ward's two sisters, Mrs. Freda Jarrett, Warwood, W. Va., and Mrs. Howard Markus, Steubenville, who failed to obtain a last minute reprieve will accompany the body.

FRANCO-AMERICAN DEBT NEGOTIATIONS WILL BE CONTINUED

Interest Rates Not To Affect Situation Washington Says

Washington, May 16.—It was the opinion in official circles today that Franco-American debt negotiations would not be retarded by the announcement that France may not expect any special consideration from the American debt funding commission in the matter of interest rates.

This statement, though coming from the White House, was accepted generally as merely an interpretation of the foreign debt act, which placed certain limitations upon the commission in dealing with the debtor nations, leaving it to congress to determine if and when concessions should be granted.

In view of this official clarification of the attitude of the administration, however, it is expected that the debt commission will seek to conclude an agreement with France with interest rates no lower than those accorded Great Britain although congress may be asked in December to amend the debt act to provide easier terms for the payment of the $4,000,000,000 French debt.

Among administration leaders in Congress who believe that little difficulty would be experienced in according some slight concessions to France is Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania recently returned from a first hand survey of economic conditions in Europe.

Senator Reed said today he would favor giving France a substantial moratorium on all interest payments, to be followed by the payment of interest at a lower rate which could be increased from time to time. He pointed out that there was nothing in debt law which prohibited the commission from granting a moratorium, and said he did not anticipate trouble in congress in approving any concessions deemed advisable by the debt commission.

Pending definite information from Paris heralding the opening of funding negotiations, government officials here continued today to withhold all formal comment on the French debt situation. The instructions of the French cabinet to finance Minister Caillaux to proceed with a study of interrelated debts, and to draft plans for liquidation was hailed privately as the first official move in the direction of a settlement.

DENY CHAMBERLAIN PLANS TO RESIGN

London, May 16.—The British foreign office denied today that Foreign Secretary Austen Chamberlain contemplated resigning.

Opposition newspapers, however, declared Chamberlain would leave the ministry because his views on the French political situation were not in accord with those of the cabinet.

The name of Lord Birkenhead was mentioned as the probable successor to Chamberlain.

SAY CONFESSION OF WIDOW IMPLICATED CLEVELANDER HELD

Conspiracy Charge To Be Brought Against Both
Poisoners

Medina, O., May 16.—After a grilling lasting six hours, Walter Johns, of 3704 Cypress Avenue, Cleveland, was placed under arrest here last night on a charge of first degree murder. He had been linked up with the arsenic poisonings of Mrs. Martha Wise, recently given a life sentence in the Marysville reformatory for killing her aunt, Mrs. Fred Glenke. She confessed administering poison to 17 persons in Hardscrabble, near here, and three of her victims died, including her mother.

Johns' arrest followed further alleged confession of the widow who is said to have told Prosecutor Joseph Seymour that it was Johns who prompted her to kill her mother, when the latter objected to the contemplated marriage of Mrs. Wise and the Cleveland man because of different religious beliefs.

Seymour announced today that he expected to bring a charge of conspiracy against Johns and also against Mrs. Wise, though she has already been sentenced for slaying her parent. If this charge is proved, it may mean the electric chair for both.

During his examination last night, Johns is alleged to have admitted frequently visiting Mrs. Wise but denied proposing marriage. He was arrested at his Cleveland home during the supper hour on a warrant sworn out in the office of Justice W. P. Ainsworth of Medina.

The arrest was made in the presence of his family. He has been married three times. One wife died in an asylum, it is said, and the others are also dead. He has four children, Mrs. Bessie Wiley Nardy, 22, Hyacinth 19, Hildona 16, and Walter 14.

He refused to surrender to officers until the warrant had been carefully read to him. He made no comment at the time and later denied the charge of conspiracy made during Seymour's six hour interrogation. The prosecutor claims he will demand that Johns be held without bond for grand jury action, on the charge of conspiracy and first degree murder.

When Collins Williamson
Uses Shot Gun

Elmer Johnson, 30, colored, this city, is believed to be in a serious condition: the County Jail from injuries sustained when Collins Williamson, farmer, near Cedarville, is said to have caught him in the act of stealing chickens and poured a load of buck shot into the back of his head early Saturday morning.

Johnson was brought to Xenia by Sheriff Morris Sharp and later taken to the County Jail where it was found that he is suffering principally from loss of blood. Dr. P. D. Espey attended Johnson Saturday morning at the jail.

Williamson told authorities that shortly after midnight he heard suspicious sound coming from his chicken roost near the house and running out into the yard with a single barrel shot gun in his hand shot the escaping man as he was about to leave through the gate.

Johnson was said to have killed two chickens by wringing their necks and had a .38 valbre revolver and a flashlight in his hand when shot.

Later authorities discovered Johnson's battered automobile on the nearby road with forty five dead chickens hidden in sacks.

Johnson, declared by authorities to be a convicted murderer with a penitentiary sentence behind him, will probably be arraigned in Justice of the Peace Court on a charge of burglary and larceny when his condition permits.

Williamson shot but the one time at a distance of only fifty feet.

Kentucky Derby Draws 75,000-May Rain

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—As Mecca is the objective of the devout Mohammedan's annual journey, so Louisville today became the focal point of the great American pilgrimage to the shrine of the thoroughbred shank, its disciples prostrated on prayer rugs that bore a singular resemblance to a five dollar mutual ticket on a possible winner of the $50,000 Kentucky Derby.

Louisville today was in the midst of its annual frenzy with 75,000 visitors gorging its highways and the music of approaching hoofbeats ringing in its civic ear.

There is only one Kentucky Derby and it will be held late this afternoon at Churchill Downs.

The average Mohammedan probably rides into Mecca in an ox cart. His American cousin, however, came by rail, motor and airplane, and after settling down on the city like an army of occupation, received the unwelcome information that the official weather forecast was for showers.

The sky was cloudy early in the day and it makes good its threat the entire aspect of the fifty first running of the turf's three year old classic will be changed.

Quatrain of the Frederick Johnson string, opened a staunch favorite on the supposition that the track would be as dry as a mouthful of alkali dust. But if they liked him on a dry track, their regard would be almost reverent in the mud. They would back him right off the horizon.

A few of the learned critics had reached the overnight conclusion that Quatrain was not due, their choice ranging through Kentucky Cardinal, either Backbone or Chantey, Almadel, Captain Hal, Son of John and Flying Ebony. But these gentlemen, in the event of rain, were prepared to tear up their form sheets and eat the pieces. It would be something of a parlor trick for Quatrain to lose under those conditions.

Hope ran high, however, that the early threat of rain would not become a fulfillment. The disciples were ready to worship at the shrine, but they had not fancy for doing it in the mud. This not only would be unpleasant for man and beast, but would ruin what competition such as Captain Hal and other fancied starters might care to offer.

The Captain cannot run in the mud and lost caste, anyhow the belief having become general that he left the race on the track some days ago when he went the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:05 1-5.

Much doubt existed today as to whether he ever was a distance horse at anytime.

Similarly a suspicion seemed to have gained ground that Quatrain lacked something of the class demanded of a Derby winner. The experts contended that he never had beaten a real running horse. But the dear public was with him almost to a man, nevertheless.

Backbone and Chantey were better horses, it was said. They ran disappointing races in the Preakness but the boys claim this was all wrong and should be stopped. No doubt about it, the Whitney pair, coupled with Reminder and The Bat, will get a strong play.

One factor, however, seemed to have been overlooked. The Derby field probably will number as many as twenty after the trainers get the scratches out of their systems and Chantey is right in the middle. His position couldn't be worse and it is a matter of derby record that a horse, off badly seldom gets up in the money.

Captain Hal drew the position next to Chantey, yet has the advantage of being a rapid starter.

But the Cardinal, one place removed may find himself in the same pocket with Chantey. Backbone and Almadel drew excellent positions on the outside and so did Quatrain. The latter may be a reluctant post horse, but he faces the probability of running his race without interference.

It was an account of his favorable position that Flying Ebony came to be fancied, although the fact that Earl Sande was to ride him, no doubt influenced this sentiment in part.

The Cochran entry, always fast from the mark, was placed between a pair of slow ones in Chief Uncas and Elector, and, barring the unforeseen, seemed due to get away running. Singlefoot, one of the dark horses, also was favorably situated.

The uncertainty, however, only seemed to confirm the abiding impression, that the derby was to be an extremely open race, in spite of Quatrain's popularity with the masses. It

MERCHANTS TO PLAY SPRINGFIELD TEAM

The Xenia Merchants will get back into action Sunday afternoon at Dickinson Park when the locals play the Springfield Ludlows a postponed game.

The Merchants were to have played the Ludlows last Sunday but a downpour of rain prevented.

Rain has interfered with all Merchants games to date although the locals succeeded in completing five innings of the opening game of the season which was won by Xenia by a 5 to 1 score.

Either Jones or Lewis will pitch the Sunday game which will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The Merchants have bolstered their lineup in preparation for the Ludlow game and will present a much stronger lineup than that which represented the locals a year ago.

BEAVER HIGH WON CHAMPIONSHIP CUP

The Beaver basketball squad is shown above. Left to right: rear row: K. Hawker, right guard; W. Miranda, left guard; M. Wolfe, left guard; C. Rauch, left guard; Merriman, right forward; second row—R. Thompson, manager; R. Brill, right forward; R. Jacobs, captain and center; E. Cyphers, right guard; E. Collins, coach. Bottom row: C. Hildebrandt, right forward, and E. Jacobs, left guard.

The Beaver basketball squad of 1924-25 basketball five enjoyed one of its best seasons on the basketball court winning eight games and losing but one besides dividing the championship of the County Basketball League with Cedarville.

Beaver scored twice as many points as opposing teams running up a total of 117 as compared to opponent's fifty-eight.

Beaver defeated practically every strong team in the county at least once with the exception of Ross Township which won a 16 to 7 verdict early in the season and held victories over Springfield, Bowersville, Yellow Springs, Cedarville, Bellbrook, Caesar Creek and Bath. Bath won the county championship in the annual Antioch elimination tournament.

There were no especially outstanding stars on the team since each man considered himself only a part of the well oiled machine which always worked in perfect co-ordination.

As part holder of the county championship, Beaver was presented with a loving cup by the Greene County Athletic Association as a permanent trophy.

Outstanding in the team's general performance on the court, was the fine defensive work shown in a majority of the contests. The team employed a defense of the five man variety and succeeded in holding such strong teams as Caesar Creek, Bowersville, Yellow Springs and Cedarville to seven or less points.

The team is coached by E. Collins, former star athlete of Cedarville College and a three letter man in the sporting activities at the college.

Beaver will be badly hit by graduation as it loses four regular performers, including Brill, R. Jacobs, Cyphers and Wolfe.

Numbered on the 1924-25 team were some of the best players in the county basketball league and Cyphers, Wolfe, R. Jacobs and Miranda were honored by being selected for places on the first and second all star county teams picked by sport writers and officials.

Bowling

Reviving bowling, a Xenia match team traveled to Dayton Thursday night and administered a drubbing to a Piqua match team two games out three, with mediocre bowling the only feature.

Arch Jeffries, high average man in the Xenia Bowling League, and anchor man for the local match team, rolled the best ten pins for the winners and was the only bowler in either team to reach the 200 mark.

The box score:

The Bowersville Bayliffs and the Springfield Mohawks will stage a game at Bowersville Sunday afternoon.

The Bayliffs were to have played Centerville last Sunday but rain placed the diamond in a muddy and slippery condition preventing all possibility of a game.

The Mohawks are said to have a strong team again this year and hold one victory over the Bayliffs gained last season in a close contest.

The Bayliffs have experienced trouble in getting their baseball machine working in winning co-ordination this year and have dropped several games by the least possible scores but are counting on turning the tables on the Springfield nine Sunday. Wells will probably work in the box for the Bayliffs.

1925 JUNIOR RECEPTION VIES WITH OTHER SUCCESSES

The gymnasium of Central High School represented a picture of "old Holland," as a setting of the annual junior-senior reception, the largest social occasion of the school year, Friday night.

The work of the members of the junior class, who put forth every effort to make the evening a success, was rewarded from every standpoint. From the novel and well selected decorations to the form of entertainment, prepared for the honor guests, the affair was one of the most enjoyable of the number that has featured Central's good times in preceding years.

The decorations were a departure from the usual appointments, and converted the school gymnasium into a reproduction of a Holland garden. Under the strands of pastel-shaded lights, large windmills were placed in the corners of the large room. A pond was arranged in one end of the room, banked with tulips of every hue, where miniature fishes, ducks and other water creatures cavorted.

The students began to arrive about 8 o'clock, and groups of young people gathered on the dance floor, with the colorful decorations being set off with the delicate shades of the evening frocks of the girls. The guests were received by Superintendent C. A. Waltz, Principal Harper C. Pender, Miss Roxie Channel, junior class advisor; Miss Helen Reisinger, junior class president; Miss Barbara Little, secretary and Miss Jane Hayward, treasurer.

Music was furnished by the Perrine Lakeside Orchestra, of Dayton, and the orchestra nook was screened with windmills and lattice. Dancing began at 8 o'clock and was interrupted by supper.

Supper was served on the balcony, surrounding the dance floor, where quartet tables were arranged. The menu was prepared by the domestic science class, under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Wolf, and was served by girls of the freshman class.

The gaiety of the evening was increased by several novelty dances. The annual affair came to a close at midnight.

Mr. H. W. Owens, architect, spent Friday in Columbus on business.

Mr. W. C. Boyce is spending the week end in Columbus, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alden.

Miss Huston was showered with the felicitations of the guests, the announcement being of much interest to her large circle of friends. Mr. Armstead is located at New Philadelphia, O., as school music supervisor. He and Miss Huston became acquainted while the bride-to-be was attending Miami University, Oxford.

THIS "BACKWARD" COUNTRY

AMERICAN failure to adopt the proposed federal child labor amendment has given the Geneva labor conference, which is part of the league of nations machinery, a topic for highly indignant rhetoric.

If the United States will not reform itself, the league has an idea that Europe ought to step in and impose reforms on this backward country. There was some talk about "crystallizing European sentiment" and "bringing moral pressure to bear" on the United States.

Our foreign critics presumably have been careful to sweep at their own doorstep before they undertook to lecture this country. We expect to hear that London slums, with their unspeakable child misery, have been cleaned up, that peonage and the exploitation of the young have been ruthlessly suppressed throughout the European continent, and that foreign countries are a veritable paradise for children. If they are not, foreign indignation would seem to be a bit premature.

Child labor conditions in some sections of the United States cannot be defended, but taken as a whole, this country presents a distinctly higher average than the general European level. Strangely enough, while America is being denounced as backward in labor legislation, thousands of Europeans are besieging our gates anxious to bring their children here with a view to improving their lot.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

AMERICA'S STEWARDSHIP

DEAN INGLE, of St. Paul's, London—England's famous "gloomy dean"—who is visiting in this country, is emphasizing a point to Americans that not a few of them have felt themselves. The fact that the dean is constantly calling upon his hearers to stir themselves to save the world shows that he is not so gloomy as not to have hope that saving is possible. The greatest need today is international leadership, and Dean Ingle looks to the United States to supply it. He is not here, he says, to further the cause of the League of Nations, realizing that this country may have reasons for hesitating to share in the association. "But," he emphasizes, "it is your duty, if you cannot join, to give us something better." Then, as in a recent address in Philadelphia, he points to America's stewardship:

God has given you here a great natural security, as as He has other blessings. Surely His thought was that through them you would be able to aid humanity. There are conditions in Europe which make the danger of another war very grave. The great catastrophe of 1914 came upon us without warning, and we cannot say when another war may come upon us. It is for America to show us the way to security.

All of which we said ourselves when we entered the World war.

HAIRBRUSH AND WHIP CONDEMNED

SPANKING and other stern forms of punishment for children were condemned as barbarous by noted women from all countries who were assembled last week in Washington, D. C. at the International Council of Women. The denunciation of historic methods of disciplining recalcitrant youth was led by Mrs. Ogilvie-Gordon, of England, who is the mother of three and recently became a grandmother. A new day in child training was declared to have dawned as a result of increased parental education and delegates maintained that the familiar hairbrush-razorstrap-rattan methods of showing Johnny the error of his ways would end with the present generation.

"Training begins at the cradle," declared Mrs. Gordon. "At the age of one month a baby will lay the foundation for future parental heartaches unless its demands for attention are checked. From then on it progresses either into admirable obedience or an unfortunate disposition which the parents promptly try to whip into shape. Normal babies come into the world with brains which can be trained along proper lines by intelligent parents."

She recommended that the child be deprived of little pleasures as one method of molding it into a character of obedience and she declared that whoever was responsible for the old adage, "spare the rod and spoil the child" knew nothing about children.

We sincerely hope that such a millennium is near at hand but if we are to judge from the present generation of youths, the majority of whom seem to have but little regard for their parents' wishes or teachings, seemingly no understanding of the word obedience and apparently but little respect for their fathers and mothers, the next generation, under Mrs. Gordon's methods, will so far surpass the present day shies and flappers, with their silver flasks, cigarettes and sex wisdom, that they will make them look like amateurs. Do you happen to know a dozen or so girls and boys of between fourteen and twenty years of age of whom you have often thought—"What they need is a good tanning?" We don't believe in cruelty to children but love and kindness and punishment by depriving them of little pleasures will only work with certain dispositions; others must be forced to mind. That is only human nature and every nature must be dealt with accordingly. No set rule for the raising of children will ever apply to all.

The home woman who wishes to repaint or revarnish a piece of badly marred furniture, need have no hesitation in attempting the work even though she has had little previous experience. The first step is to buy a good grade of paint remover or varnish remover. Follow the directions on the can, taking care not to get the remover on clothing, hangings or floors. It is best to do the work out of doors, if possible. A paint-scraper is not expensive and is a great convenience in removing the gummy mess of old paint or varnish from the wood.

After applying one coat of the paint remover (or varnish remover), it is best to apply a second coat and then once more scrape the piece of furniture. Next, apply strong soap and water to which you have added a little washing soda for the remover, unless entirely taken off, will burn through the fresh paint or varnish. Now let the wood dry for 48 hours.

BEAUTY
I have found beauty in a lake of pearl,
A winter scene, with spruce trees edged with snow,
A ridge of mountains where the laurels grow,
A block of lilies where the waters swirl,
A sunset, and a sunrise, and a curl
Upon the brow of one with youth aglow,
But nothing lovelier upon this earth I know
Than is the glad smile of a little girl.
A little girl whose years are scarcely three,
Laughing and tripping lightly into day,
Untouched as yet by fears of what may be
Believing life all good and meant for play,
In such a face, and in such radiant eyes,
God's loveliest gift of earthly beauty lies.

I get so many letters from disappointed people. Some of them are extremely pathetic. I wish that I might give something to such people that would help make them happy.

But the fact is that it is a human characteristic for all of us to be disappointed in greater or less degree. With all the glory that came to Napoleon, he died a disappointed man—bitterly complaining of his fate.

The child seems to be as happy on the dark day as on the bright day. But there comes a time when disappointment quiets the laughter and loneliness shades the heart.

Disappointment is a common heritage, however. We dream dreams and then awake to find that realities have swept them from before our eyes. We set up ideals and strive to attain them and so often walk to our bed for the night with a heavy heart.

But this very disappointment is a vital affair in the business of life. We were not put here to live in clover and drink nectar from the hand of some goddess. We were put into the world to play the game, to take our chance "at bat" whether for a "strike out" or a "home run." And sometimes we are called upon to "sacrifice" that someone else may come in—for the good of all.

There are compensations. If this were not so every brick and stone in the citadel of our hope in life would crumble.

Without complaint, advertisement, or visible expression we should carry over our heart the "red badge of courage."

It was Shelley who once wrote:
"Our sincerest laughter
With some pain is fraught."

TAX RATE OF OSBORN VILLAGE INCREASED BY PETITION ACTION

A total of $3,247.65 will be added to the Osborn Village tax duplicate at the June collection following the passage of an ordinance by members of the village council levying a three mill tax on the entire Osborn tax duplicate in accordance with the authorization of special bill, passed by the House at the last session of the legislature, County Auditor E. O. Wead said Saturday. The village is a rapidly growing municipality and because the town is in need of funds tax payers made the necessary petitions.

Osborn is believed to be but the third municipality in the state that has taken advantage of the new laws which were passed as emergency measures by the legislature for the year 1925 to relieve the financial condition in the Ohio cities.

County Auditor Wead will place the special tax on the duplicate for the 1924 tax year and certify to County Treasurer F. E. Jackson to collect the new tax levy with the semi-annual settlement of taxes in Osborn for 1924, payable June 20.

The Board of Deputy Supervisors of Elections of the county has certified to the Osborn council that a petition was filed with them levying the special three mill tax to pay deficiencies in the several village funds February 1, 1925.

Osborn tax payers paid a tax rate of $22 at the last October collection but in the last half collection in June will pay a rate of $14 instead of $11 or three dollars more.

ASSOCIATION ASKS PUBLIC TO INSPECT NEW SHAWNEE PARK

"Visit the Park." This invitation is being extended by the Xenia Recreation Association to the general public, with the completion of a large amount of work on the new city park.

The recreation association will meet at the park Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of allocating the various buildings, and laying tentative plans for the shelter house at the south end of the lagoon. It is planned to construct the foundation of the lagoon to afford canoe storage.

Another proposal is for a triangular space at the entrance of the park, to be converted into a memorial plot to the World War Veterans. Flowers will be planted in the plot and a suitable memorial placed.

The Quoit Club has installed its equipment at the park and pitching will begin early next week, it is thought.

Money pledges are still being received at the Citizens' National Bank, and anyone who has money to donate to the city park, will be received gladly at the bank.

The Greene County Commissioners have presented the park with a sixteen foot bridge, constructed over the lagoon.

PART OF JEWELRY FOUND IDENTIFIED; GUANE NOT LOCATED

A portion of the jewelry cache found several days ago in a room at the Frances Inn, South Detroit Street, has been identified by M. H. Schmidt, as stolen from his residence February 27 at King and Union Streets, Police Chief M. E. Graham announced Saturday.

Of the seven pieces of jewelry found the two watches, one gold and one silver, the silver watch chain and the solid gold watch chain were claimed by Mr. Schmidt. One watch stolen from his home the same night was never recovered.

Two gold lockets and a lavalier remain unidentified and are being held at Police Headquarters for safe keeping.

The cache of jewelry was discovered last week at the Inn by a maid in the corner of the top shelf of the wardrobe in one of the rooms while cleaning.

Suspicion rests on J. M. Guane, a man who registered at the hotel February 27 from Springfield and occupied the same room in which the valuables were found.

Chief Graham communicated with Springfield police in an effort to locate the man but was rewarded with the reply that the name of Guane was not known and he could not be located.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL SELL FLAGS TO XENIA RESIDENCES

With the aim of having a flag displayed by every Xenia home on all national holidays and occasions of celebration, Joseph P. Focht, Post, No. 95, American Legion, is staging a flag-selling campaign for Xenia.

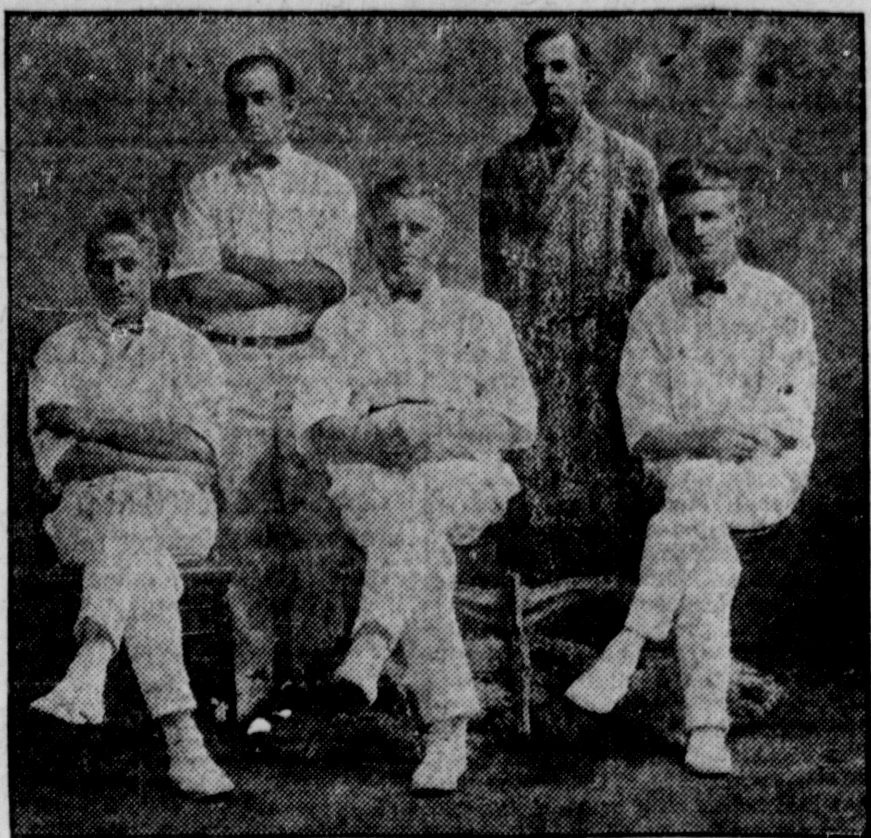

The importance of the display of the flag at residences the same as in the business districts, is stressed by Legion officials. Xenia business men recently purchased flags through the canvas homes the coming week. The Legion and put them on display in front of their places of business on each holiday.

The same plan is to be carried out for residence districts by the Legion and members of the organization will canvass homes the coming week. The flags are of standard size.

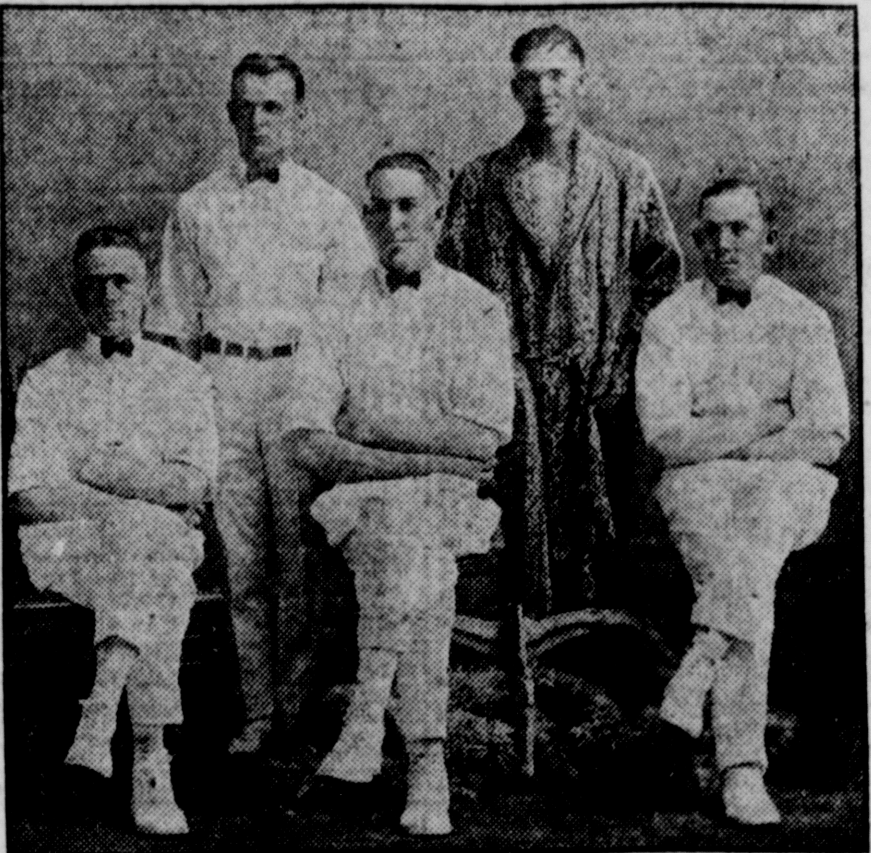

"Let us own a good flag, one that we may be proud of. Let us treasure it. Let us keep it clean and when we display it, do so in a respectful and dignified manner. Let us not nail it to the side of the house like a coon skin on a barn door, nor hang it on a line, like a towel on wash day. Let us raise it above our heads, upon a proper staff, a symbol of the protecting care of our country, always over us," is the plea of Legionnaires in selling the flags.

Flags may be purchased from any member of the Legion, and it is hoped that hundreds will be sold before Memorial Day.

GENERAL NELSON A. MILES IS SUDDENLY CALLED BY DEATH

Washington, May 16—While the whole army mourned arrangements were being completed today for the funeral of General Nelson A. Miles, one of America's outstanding military heroes, who died suddenly yesterday while attending a circus.

Mrs. Cecilia Raber, the General's daughter, was to arrive this morning from New York, while his son, Major Sherman Miles, is enroute to the United States from Constantinople on the Leviathan.

Having served in nearly every rank which the army knows, from private soldier to commander of all the nation's forces—General Miles will be buried, probably in Arlington Cemetery, with full military honors.

The general was 86 years old when he died. His service covered more than half a century, beginning in the Civil War, when he commanded an army corps, while only 25 years of age, and extending through the Indian wars in the west and the war with Spain.

MODISH MITZI—Choose Your Type!

By JAY V. JAY

Are you a dark young woman and were you born to wear a neck line like this? No, this isn't a horoscope. But still it may interest you to know that turtle neck jumpers are going to be worn by a great many people this summer. It is particularly hand some on those of Mitzi's type.

And if you are blonde or maybe brunette (its a mere detail) but if you are slim and rather boyish in build, this sort of collar and neckline should be of great interest to you. It's clever in its mannishness which of course, is used to emphasize the femininity of people like our friend Polly here.

Adelaide, the lynx-eyed, with straight-bobbed hair and a peculiar style all her own is very fond of the new collar mode that stands up and has one of the long ties that may be tied in a bow knot or a bow or left hanging so that the ends extend nearly to the knees. Maybe you resemble her.

Or if you are like Eleanor of gentle disposition, inclined to blue eyes and wavy hair you will undoubtedly like to wear a satin dress with a jabot front. The nice thing about not being born under any style star is, that you can wear all these necklines if you want to and be completely in harmony

ter word meaning a "good insurance man" when requested to speak freely on Life, Fire and Casualty insurance remained pensively silent for an hour or so while the representative of the Weekly Business Review twiddled her thumbs. He then spoke as follows: "Man was never intended for Work! By proper co-operation among all of us it can be entirely done away with. "There would be no work if folks would quit calling what they make their living at by some other name. If the farmer frantically would 'call his Saturday shopping tour here in town 'WORK' and his plowing and planting 'RECREATION'—if the Book-keeper would call his dance nights 'WORK' and his accounting 'PLAY', etc. etc. etc., this world would be a blamed sight happier place to live in.

"Take insurance frantically. I don't find much work attached to it in the years I've spent in its study. Bowling I consider my real life's 'WORK'. Insurance however makes me my living yet to me it's 'recreation'."

"If all the readers of the Weekly Business Review would cut out this fool word 'work' and forget it for a spell, Xenia would be a much more joyous community and would assay many more smiles."

"Another thing while I'm at it:—

"There's lots of people who have no need—none at all—for insurance. I can't name any of them right at this time but I KNOW there ARE such folks."

Mr. Cox at this point lapsed into silence and would say nothing more.

BUY PURE MILK AT HURLEY DAIRY AND HAVE GOOD HEALTH

Milk is one food every child should have, especially in warm weather when food is apt to lie heavy on the stomach. Heavy eating should be dispensed with during the warm summer months and milk takes the place of many foods and is satisfying and nutritious for both children and grown-ups.

Too much milk cannot be given the growing boy and girl and the important factor to consider is whether or not the milk is pure. Milk purchased at the Hurley Dairy is absolutely pure and the most sanitary methods are used at the dairy.

The importance of health for growing boys and girls cannot be estimated and pure food is a necessary item for parents to consider and milk should be made the main article on all menus. Gain good health by drinking pure milk, purchased at the Hurley Dairy.

MODERNIZE YOUR BATHROOM—CALL H. R. JORDAN SHOP

You wouldn't buy a house without a bathroom. Yet your own may be equipped with an old-fashioned tub and obsolete fixtures which severely limit the comfort and convenience of your daily bath.

True bathing comfort is essential to good health. Harry R. Jordan, plumber, South Detroit Street, can replace your old bathroom with new, strictly modern fixtures, at a price far more reasonable than you think. He has a variety of bathroom plans which will interest you from the standpoint of strict economy and all-around utility. You will always find someone at his shop who will be glad to explain the various sorts of fixtures.

Why not pay him a visit. His plans will illustrate the importance of an up-to-date bathroom and other plumbing fixtures.

MAKE YOUR TRIP A PLEASURE—SEE BALDNER MOTOR CO

How do you feel at the end of a long automobile drive? Are you going to be the man who feels he can enjoy a good dinner and a pleasant evening's entertainment after a day's ride, or will there be just one ambition in life as soon as you get a bite to eat—to bed and a chance to stretch your weary back and limbs? Avoid aches and pains—observe the contrast by using Harve Stabilizers on your car. This is a grand new shock and rebound-absorber—a stabilizer, if you please—inexpensive, absolutely efficient—the easiest thing in the world to put on. The Baldner Motor Company, North Whiteman Street, is an agency for the stabilizers.

Not only do you save all the servicing expense and the wear and tear on your car, but the first doctor bill saved, and the wearysome wear on the motorist's body. Harve Stabilizers are sold for $15 for a set of four.

Why not look forward to every mile of your ride with pleasure instead of with a foreboding of weary muscles and aching heads? It is not how you feel at the start, but how you feel at the end of the trail, that makes or mars your trip. Harve Stabilizers mean a good finish.

BUY YOUR FRESH FISH FOR A DISH FROM YOWLER SHOP

Mrs. Housewife, go to the Yowler Fish Market, West Main Street, and buy some nice fresh fish for this delicious receipt:

1/2 lb. cold cooked fish
1/2 cupful milk
2 tablespoonsful fat,
1/2 cupful water
2 tablespoons cream
4 tablespoons flour
Salt, pepper and red pepper to taste
1 teaspoonful lemon juice.
2 lbs. cooked potatoes
2 eggs.

Rub potatoes through a sieve, add little salt and pepper, one egg well beaten and two tablespoonsful melted fat mix well. Roll out on floured baking board to 1 and 1-4 inches in thickness. Cut into small rounds. Brush over with remaining egg well beaten, toss in fine breadcrumbs, mark the center slightly with a smaller round cutter. Fry to golden color. In hot fat. Remove lids, carefully remove bulk of potatoes, from inside, fill with mixture, replace lids, and serve hot. For mixture, blend two tablespoonsful of the fat with flour in a saucepan over the fire, add milk and water and seasonings and cook for a few minutes. Put in flaked fish and make hot. Add cream last. One-half teaspoonful of anchovy extract may be added if liked. Sufficient for ten servings.

HAVE YOUR LAWN MOWER SHARPENED AT MINSHALL SHOP

Nothing like a well-kept lawn will give attractiveness to your house and lot and the only way to keep the grass in the proper condition is with the aid of a well sharpened mower. If the blades are dull the grass will have an uneven appearance and is much harder to trim and care for.

The Minshall Machine and Welding Shop is the place where you can get your mower expertly sharpened and the entire machine looked over. Workmen at the shop also sharpen sickle bars and their work is marked with that degree of expertness and complete satisfaction that characterizes all work put out by the shop.

New and used machinery can be purchased at the shop, both for machine and farm shops. A large stock of shafting, belting and pulleys is also kept by the Minshall shop. The expert welding work of the shop is a big feature of the business.

WASHING MACHINE OF SERVICE, SOLD AT HORNICK SHOP

Wonderful results, enduring satisfaction are both assured in the New One Minute Washer, sold by the Hornick Electric Company, East Main Street.

This new machine embodies the results of a quarter of a century's manufacturing experience, the ideas of the country's best engineering minds and the wishes and desires of the American housewife.

It matters not what machine you have used or are using, it matters not how particular you are. You will own this new One Minute Washer, if you will but give it a chance to prove its efficiency. The Hornick Electric Company will be glad to provide this opportunity.

POOR MANAGEMENT HURTS BUSINESS BABSON DECLARES

Many business men are wondering why with fundamental conditions so much better, there is no greater improvement in general business. With money so cheap and labor quiescent, why is it men are asking that sales are so difficult and profits so small? Roger W. Babson today suggests an answer.

"One is apt to think that there are only two important factors in industry, namely, capital and labor," says the statistician. "Of course this is a great mistake, and the error never was more obvious than at the present time. We now have very cheap money so that capital can readily be obtained for even questionable promotions; while the country has not been so free from labor strikes for years. What then is the difficulty? There are various difficulties but perhaps our real trouble is that we have forgotten that there are three important factors and that the third is management. Has there been enough improvement and growth in management? Are not many corporations still carrying the burden of a superannuated personnel? Cutting overhead means to many officials the cutting of everything excepting their own salaries when really the corporation might be better off if they quiet altogether and gave their position to younger and more resourceful men. There is little question that all of us should wake up and perform our work more efficiently."

"The greatest values are created neither by capital nor by labor, but by good management, and this good management is made up of character, judgment, vision and courage. The leadership of every corporation is determined by this factor."

FEDERAL PRISONER NOW CONFINED HERE

Cell doors of the Greene County Jail closed behind the first federal prisoner Thursday afternoon, that has ever been consigned to Greene County by the government.

Richard Whiteacre, Cincinnati, sentenced to spend thirty days in jail for forgery was brought to the County Jail Thursday afternoon, by T. A. Argh, deputy under United States Marshal Stanley Brothwick, of Cincinnati.

Because of over-crowded conditions in jails in southern Ohio, arrangements have been made by the government to use the Greene County Jail indefinitely for confinement of prisoners.

No limit is placed on the number of prisoners that may be sent to Greene County.

The federal government will bear all expense of keeping prisoners in the local jail.

This is the first time federal prisoners have been sent to Greene County to serve sentences. The move had been contemplated and discussed for a number of months.

BRINGING UP FATHER

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER XLIV

Elaine's letter revealed only conventional sentences, and nothing to indicate that she knew of, or dreamed of (except as, perhaps, concerning herself), Michael's engagement. She gently rebuked him for his failure to write. She said that Daddy was elated because he had done eighteen holes in 95. She advised him to try a book she had just read and found delightful. It was called "South Wind" and the author was Norman Douglas.

"I must write to her tomorrow. I must tell her of my engagement." With this resolve, Michael undressed, yawning, and went to bed, falling asleep almost as quickly as he laid his head among the pillows.

He telephoned Lilah from the office in the forenoon. "I want you to have tea with me at my house—and your future home—this afternoon," he announced. "I want to see you." She replied, "Be ready at 4:30 o'clock and don't keep me waiting," he said, commandingly.

But he was kept waiting. "I'd like for Mamma to come along," Lilah smiled, as she admitted him. "I want her to see the house, too."

Michael frowned, but concealed his annoyance. "Yes, yes. Do ask her."

They got started twenty minutes later. Sally admitted them gravely; haughtily it seemed to Michael.

she met Mrs. Pharley's eyes challengingly.

"I don't know what you two are ever going to do with such a large house," Mrs. Pharley observed, looking about her, as they sipped their tea.

"Why I think roomy old houses are delightful," Lilah put in.

"I like lots of room," Michael said. "It is large, but it won't be much trouble to keep. Sally here is the best housekeeper in the world."

Sally did not look up, but she knew that Mrs. Pharley inspected her.

"How many servants have you?"

Servants!—the word annoyed Michael. He glanced at Sally. He didn't like to have her referred to as a servant. He had never considered her as that. What was she? Well, she was the housekeeper, but she wasn't a servant. He wished again that Mrs. Pharley hadn't come along. They didn't need a chaperone.

"Sally manages the household," he answered politely. "Then there is a cook and the cook's husband, who attends to the furnace and the lawn and the outside work. Sally has a woman come in two days of the week to help with the cleaning."

"Who does the laundry?" It was evident that Mrs. Pharley had many questions to ask.

"Why, there's a woman comes in to do that, too."

"It certainly takes a lot of help to run this house. I should think you'd be able to do on less." Michael regarded her belligerently. He was glad that Sally was out of the room at the moment.

"It's a matter I have left to Sally. She has been in the house since I was a boy and was trained by my mother. My mother found her to be economical and trustworthy. I think that it will be wise for Lilah to allow Sally to continue to run things." He spoke crisply, as if he were delivering an ultimatum.

Lilah nodded approvingly; her mother shrugged. She made a mental note to take up the matter with her daughter when they were alone.

As the three of them proceeded through the house on their tour of inspection, Michael found himself becoming more and more angry, and longed to burst out at Mrs. Pharley with instructions to go home and mind her own business. She had arbitrary suggestions to make about anything and everything. The arrangement of the bedrooms didn't suit her. The halls were too dark. The lighting fixture were too old-fashioned.

"Damn," Michael breathed to himself as Mrs. Pharley repeated again: "Well, I certainly don't see what you two are going to do with such a big house."

PRODUCTIVE CREDIT

FINANCES SOME STAGE OF PRODUCTION

To be productive, bank credit should go to agriculture, industry or trade for a short term and not be used for speculation.

After any legitimate loan is in the hands of the borrower, he may use that money unproductively. He might accumulate goods to hold for a higher price, instead of turning them over quickly. He might borrow to build a plant on the chance that he could make a quick turnover and repay the loan.

The first case is pure speculation; the second is properly the basis for a mortgage or long term debt, not credit. Neither could be called a productive use of bank credit.

On the other hand, bank credit provided to finance the movement of goods through any one of the successive stages of production and distribution until it reaches the ultimate consumer is productive.

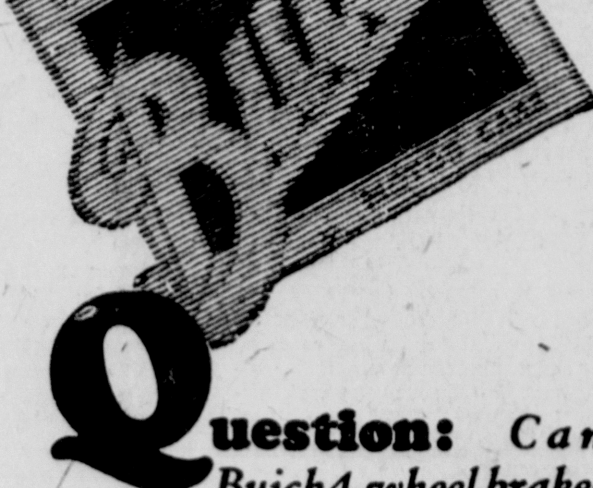

There are three requisites for productive credit then.

1. It must be for a short term.
2. The loan must not be used for speculation.
3. It must go to agriculture, industry or trade.
